Specialist rope access services since 1996

Supplying industrial rope access services to industry for maintenance and construction activities since 1996. Our rope access teams work in all industries.

Rope access is the number one means of access in many industries. Allowing a wide range of work in difficult to reach locations. Work can be carried out quickly, safely and often without disruption to other nearby operations. Rope access reduces the cost and time for the task when compared to other systems of access.

All of Abfad's rope access personnel are IRATA trained. IRATA (The Industrial Rope Access Trade Association) is the working at height training regulatory and standards authority. Being members of IRATA means Abfad's personnel are trained and experienced to provide working at height solutions and operate under the safest possible methods and conditions. We also ensure our technicians have the necessary training and abilities to complete the task required of them once in place. We have the highest standards of work practice for any given project, whatever the size.
